

The Alternative London Tube Map: Tourist Attractions Edition

London is a huge city with loads to see and do, whether it be historic landmarks such as Big Ben and St Paul's Cathedral or museums like the Natural History Museum.

To show just how many great attractions the capital has to offer, we've put together this tube map, with the stations replaced by the closest attractions.

As you can see, the further out you go, it does get a little trickier, but it goes to show that there really is something in every corner of London!
